

Cellular telephone use should NOT be allowed on airborne aircraft, except in a REAL emergency (i.e. life and death, not "I forgot to tell my sister such, and such.") Traveling in an aircraft is already a terribly stressful experience. Adding loud mouth cell phone users and their horribly annoying ring tones to the mix is an incredibly stupid idea.